Copyright

Copyright and Design Attribution – please read CAREFULLY

Australian Copyright Law protects the intellectual property and creative skills of quilt designers and all creative content producers. In all cases where your quilt involves someone else's creative work, you must always provide full and proper attribution of the source, and in some cases, obtain explicit permission to display your work.

If you have used a purchased pattern from any source (including kits and BoM), a pattern from a publication, or from a workshop, you have purchased the right to use the pattern for personal use, including the right to display your quilt in an exhibition. You do not need to seek copyright permission to enter the exhibition, however, your right to display generally is dependent on full acknowledgement of the design source being made. Failure to do so would constitute a breach of copyright.

If you have copied or altered an original design/photo you have seen (eg at a show, on the internet/social media) without a pattern, even where none exists, you are in breach of copyright. To display such a quilt in the Festival of Quilts you will need express permission from the owner of the quilt/photo/intellectual property in advance. This applies even if you have changed elements of the original such as technique, layout, colour or size, or drafted the pattern yourself.

SA Quilters and Festival of Quilts takes no responsibility for copyright breaches by exhibitors, or the consequences thereof should legal action be launched against an exhibitor for copyright infringement. Remember, your quilt may be spotted anywhere in the world on social media, even well into the future.

Design Source

In the online entry process, you will be asked to select a description which best describes the extent of your creative input in the design of your quilt. The following is a guide to making the most appropriate choice.

Original design: This applies if the design is entirely your own, including a design you have adapted from a photograph or artwork which is also your own original work. If this is the case, you can claim copyright as the design is yours alone, not an adaptation of someone else's. It is advisable to keep evidence of your design process and inspiration source to justify your claim of originality.

A traditional design: Choose this for quilts based on traditional blocks which are generally regarded as being in the public domain for which you have made your own decisions in fabric selection, layout, setting and borders. You may have drafted the pattern yourself, however, if you have used a book or other source to assist in cutting the blocks, mention that in your Quilt Card Statement. Copyright permission is not required, but the information may be of interest to other quilters reading the exhibition quilt card. Please note, "publicly available" is not the same thing as "in the public domain".

Designer: The design sources for these quilts are many and varied, and include the following:

- a purchased pattern, or one from a book, magazine, website, or computer software, which you have followed with minimal variation, and for the most part following the fabric choices or colour recommendations of the pattern
- a historical quilt, to which you have made no, or only minimal, variation
- items made in a class or workshop, including online, in which the pattern was provided and was an essential part of the class, as opposed to a technique which you apply to your own design
- a kit, a Block of the Month program for which fabrics are provided, or fabric packs made up to be used with a specific pattern or design

Interpretation: This applies for quilts based on any of the sources listed above for which you have made your own choices with respect to design elements, perhaps with significant variations to the pattern. It also applies to an adaptation of someone else's work in another medium, for example a work of art, a photograph, a mosaic or leadlight panel, a different quilt making technique. If you have developed a design which incorporates a substantial part (important, distinctive, or recognisable) of someone else's work, select this option as your design source and obtain copyright permission.

In any other case, where some other person or organisation holds the copyright over the design, whether it constitutes the whole or only part of the design of your quilt, it is your responsibility to ensure that you are not in breach of any copyright. Entrants will not be asked to show proof of copyright observance on the online entry form, however you will be asked to declare, as part of the entry process, that you have complied with copyright requirements. Failure to comply with Australian Copyright law may render your entry ineligible for judging or display and/or expose you to risk of litigation.

Strategies for seeking and documenting permission to use copyright material include:

- Look for a copyright notice on the material in the first instance.
- Conduct an Internet search to find the copyright owner.
- Approach the gallery or museum that holds the item.
- Approach the publisher for permission.
- Make a direct approach to the copyright owner.
- Get the permission in writing where possible.
- If the permission is verbal, document the conversation in writing.

Document any permission request in writing for your own records.

For up-to-date information relating to copyright, please access <http://www.copyright.org.au>.

Quilt Appraisals

As part of the entry process, the value of a quilt is required information for insurance purposes during the exhibition. Please note that we can only cover up to $10,000 per item. Any amount above this should be covered by a personal insurance policy.

The Festival of Quilts Committee recommends that quilts are appraised before entering the exhibition. An appraisal certificate authenticates the value of a quilt for insurance purposes. If a quilt wins a major prize or is selected to travel interstate, it must be appraised.

The Appraisal Panel meets on the Friday immediately after monthly SA Quilters meetings in February, April, June, August, October, and December. Make sure to book quilts well in advance of appraisal day as application forms must be submitted two weeks prior to the day.

An appraisal fee of $20.00 applies for SAQ members, or $30.00 for affiliated members/groups. For application forms and general enquiries, please contact:

Heather Ford
Appraisal Panel Co-ordinator
Phone: 0438 272 408
Appraisals: appraisals.saquilters@gmail.com

Quilts Offered for Sale

If you wish to offer your quilt for sale, a label to that effect will be included on the quilt card. A list of those quilts for sale will be located at the SA Quilters' table, where prospective purchasers can request contact details for the quiltmaker.

Thereafter, the parties must come to their own mutually acceptable arrangements regarding any sale. SA Quilters and the Festival of Quilts will have no further role in any subsequent dealings between a quilt owner and any prospective purchasers.

You are strongly advised to have your quilt appraised before the show. (For further information, see Quilt Appraisals detailed above.)

Hanging Sleeve

A single hanging sleeve of at least 3¼" (8cm) finished is required for ALL entries into Festival of Quilts. This is necessary to accommodate the diameter of the hanging rods, (including that used for photography) without using any force.

Please note: Only one sleeve is permitted per quilt. Split hanging sleeves must not be used.

Suggested methods for attaching a hanging sleeve:

A: Sew on a sleeve while binding the quilt

A hanging sleeve can be sewn to the top of the quilt at the same time as the binding is attached.

- Make a strip of sleeve fabric 7-8" (18-20cms) wide and the same width as the quilt.
- Fold under short edges ¼" (6mm), wrong sides together. Press and sew a straight or zigzag seam to hem the ends.
- Fold the strip lengthwise, wrong sides together, aligning the raw edges.
- Centre the folded strip along the top edge of the quilt, against the backing, aligning the matched raw edges with the edge of the quilt. Pin in place.
- Add binding and stitch in place through all layers.
- Smooth the sleeve downward along the quilt back, then make a ½" (12mm) fold along its length to create a pleat. Leaving the pleat intact, pin the lower edge of the sleeve to the quilt.
- Hand stitch the lower edge of the sleeve to the quilt stitching through to the batting occasionally.
- Hand stitch the back of the side edges of the sleeve tube to the quilt so that hanging poles can be cleanly inserted.

B: Sew on a sleeve after binding the quilt

- Make a strip of sleeve fabric 7-8" (18-20cms) wide and the same width as the quilt.
- Fold under short edges ¼" (6mm), wrong sides together. Press and sew a straight or zigzag seam to hem the ends.
- Fold the strip lengthwise, wrong sides together, aligning the raw edges. Sew together with a ½" (12mm) seam allowance. Press the seam allowance open.
- Place the open seam against the quilt's back. Centre and pin the top edge of the tube to the back of the quilt, about ½" (12mm) below the binding.
- Use a hand stitch to sew the top edge of the tube to the quilt backing at the stitched edge of the binding. Stitch into the batting occasionally to help strengthen the seam.
- Smooth the sleeve downward along the quilt back, then make a ½" (12mm) upwards fold along its length to create a pleat (about up to the top edge of the binding). Leaving the pleat intact, pin the lower edge of the sleeve to the quilt.
- Hand stitch the lower edge of the sleeve to the quilt. Stitch the back, side edges of the sleeve to the quilt. Leave the front sides unsewn to allow for rod insertion.

Cloth Bags For Quilts

A separate bag is required for every entry.

Bags designed specifically for SA Quilters are available for purchase by attending a monthly SAQ meeting or by contacting merchandise.saquilters@gmail.com

*Patterns for Large and Extra Large zippered quilt bags can be found on the SA Quilters website:

PILLOWCASES are not to be used. They do not have proper closures and are hard for the handlers to manage. They may also present a health risk.

Fabric and Size: Please find or make a bag that comfortably accommodates the quilt. There should be room around all sides and the bag should totally enclose the quilt (with a zippered fastening).

Fabric for the bag should be sturdy but lightweight – calico, pre-quilted cottons, furnishing fabrics, preferably in plain colours, which are more easily identified by quilt handlers, and so the identification numbers show up well.

Closures and Handles: Zip closures are required. Buttons, toggles, drawstrings, or velcro-type are not suitable.

All bags should have handles for ease of carrying but keep them simple and not too long.

Bag Label: Make sure the bag is labelled with entry number in large print, and quilter's name, clearly visible on the front.

Folding Quilts to Fit into the Bag: When quilts are removed from their bags for hanging, some may display unsightly folds and creases. These may disappear after a day's hanging, but this might not be before the judges get to see it. Some quilts, unfortunately, retain their creases for the entire duration of the show. To minimize creasing, fold quilts with the first and second folds horizontally, and then subsequent folds vertically. In this way, the weight of the quilt should assist the most obvious creases to fall out. It may also help to fold the quilt with the right side outwards, so that the sharpest crease is on the back.

Delicate Quilts: Whilst every care is taken with the handling of quilts, please be aware that quilts will be folded and stacked on judging day in accordance with correct judging procedure. Special handling or folding requests cannot be accommodated.

Quilt Labels

A securely attached quilt label is necessary for identification of your quilt during the Exhibition. The label with a minimum of the quilt maker's name and the quilt's title is placed in the bottom left-hand corner of the quilt back (as seen when looking at the back of the quilt).

You may add further information as you choose. While it's not necessary for FoQ, it is a good idea to add information such as care instructions. Suggestions for permanent quilt labels can be found via the FoQ webpage:

<https://www.saquilters.org.au/appraisal-panel>

Once you have labelled your quilt, the label must be temporarily covered, to ensure that during judging, all identifying labels/words/names are covered to ensure anonymity and judges' impartiality. Create a neat, plain-coloured fabric square/rectangle to cover the permanent label, with only your entry number clearly written in the middle. Please write the number on before pinning it to your quilt, to avoid permanent marker accidents! Pin the numbered cover over your label with safety pins at each corner.

All names or signatures appearing on the front of the quilt (or visible anywhere else) must also be covered.
